Roads are the main cause of development. Roads created a vast network to connect every place. It created a great marketplace within countries utilizing transport. Even great people said, “a good road makes a good village”. Without roads, we cannot find this development.

But there will always be drawbacks to good things. Here roads are the majority places attracted to the huge accidents. They are mostly due to human negligence and inefficiency. We must make efforts to overcome this.

One of the things that come under human negligence is drunk and drive. Many people are involved in driving after going to late-night parties in an unconscious condition. This small irresponsibility may cause a severe loss not only to the person drunk and driving but also to the pedestrians and co-vehicles on the roads. 32 percent of fatal We can overcome this with self-realization and the help of the government by applying strict rules.

The government can provoke and encourage awareness programs. We can send them to rehabilitation centres to make them stop drinking. Traffic authorities can keep strict rules and apply fines while drunk and driving. If you are drunk, we must take a taxi or car-sharing facilities like Uber, Ola instead of driving ourselves. Stop others who attempt to drive after a drink. Encourage parties with alcohol-free beverages.

The main thing the government can do is stop supplying alcohol slowly over time. Encourage beverage companies that do not use or use less amount of alcohol.

We can increase road safety with our responsibility and ideas. The main thing is the construction of roads. The government must take proper measures to increase the construction of proper and safe roads. Everyone must follow the traffic rules properly to maintain a good and safe society. Everyone must obey the government. Everyone can use public transport to reduce traffic, which is the main cause of accidents.

Prevention is better than cure, but in the worst cases, we cannot stop the accidents. We must maintain a quick responding authority that takes care of accidents. Telephone booths and toll-free numbers must be kept across the roads.

At the end of the day, we are the persons who go on the roads. We must take care of our roads and be safe. We must change and follow the rules and measures. We can only take care of ourselves.
